

When is Alpha or Beta and how do I sign up?

We are looking at having Alpha Phase 1 - Ancestry The Ruination open by September of 2009. This date is tentative and may change as we decide what features to include in this most basic of stages. You can reserve your name for free and be notified when the game is open by going registering for a free account, and you can learn more about Ancestry by checking out our Ancestry Information. You may also find the forums a useful source of information as our production log is available there.

If you have any other questions not answered here, please feel free to contact our Support Chat or submit a ticket from our Support Center.

Again, we look forward to seeing you on opening day, and hope you will consider getting an Ancestry account so you can start earning rewards right away!